

Gemma Arroyo Cardona

Gemma Arroyo Cardona is a Senior Clinical Embryologist. She teaches and serves as a tutor for the Master's Degree in Reproductive Biology offered by Dexeus University Hospital in collaboration with the Department of Cellular Biology and Physiology at the Autonomous University of Barcelona (UAB).

Her research and dissemination efforts focus on Assisted Reproduction Techniques, particularly in the areas of in vitro oocyte maturation and embryonic morphology.

She is a member of various national advisory commissions, including the SEF Interest Group on “Embryonic Health” and the ASEBIR Interest Group on “Embryonic Quality.”